

I am against the appeal that CBA has filed that challenges Indiana's Telephone Privacy law. I urge the FCC not to accept the 'established business relationship' loophole. Since I do business with banks and credit card companies, I can contact them when I have a need. I don't see any point to their calling me and therefore would like to be off of their calling lists too.